

ZAYO ENTERPRISE NETWORKS ANNOUNCES REALIGNED REGIONAL STRUCTURE AND UNVEILS NEW COMPANY BRAND

(Louisville, Colo.) September 9, 2009 - Zayo Enterprise Networks, a division of Zayo Group and a provider of fiber-based telecommunications solutions for business, government and education, announced today that it has changed its name from Zayo Managed Services to Zayo Enterprise Networks, reorganized its operations into four unique regions and launched a new brand identity.

The realignment of the company will help Zayo Enterprise Networks meet the changing needs of its customers by delivering advanced IP communication services on a geographic basis. Customer care, sales, engineering and provisioning will now be managed at a local level in the Colorado, Great Lakes, Memphis and Minnesota markets.

"Moving forward, this realignment is significant because we will be able to define ourselves around the people we serve in addition to the services we provide. Each market is led by a General Manager focused on meeting the needs of his customers and who is empowered to make the decisions necessary to deliver great service." said Glenn Russo, President of Zayo Enterprise Networks.

In addition to the new regional structure, Zayo Enterprise Networks has also officially announced its new company name, redesigned its logo and launched a new website at www.zayoenterprise.com. This rebranding effort reflects the company's focus on mid-sized enterprise businesses and on leveraging its extensive fiber footprint to create solutions.

Additional information about Zayo Enterprise Networks, its services, as well as its markets and industries served is available on the website.
